KOPRO Int. Concluding Colloquium

Concepts of "Co-Production" and its Influence on the Development of Inclusive Urban Space

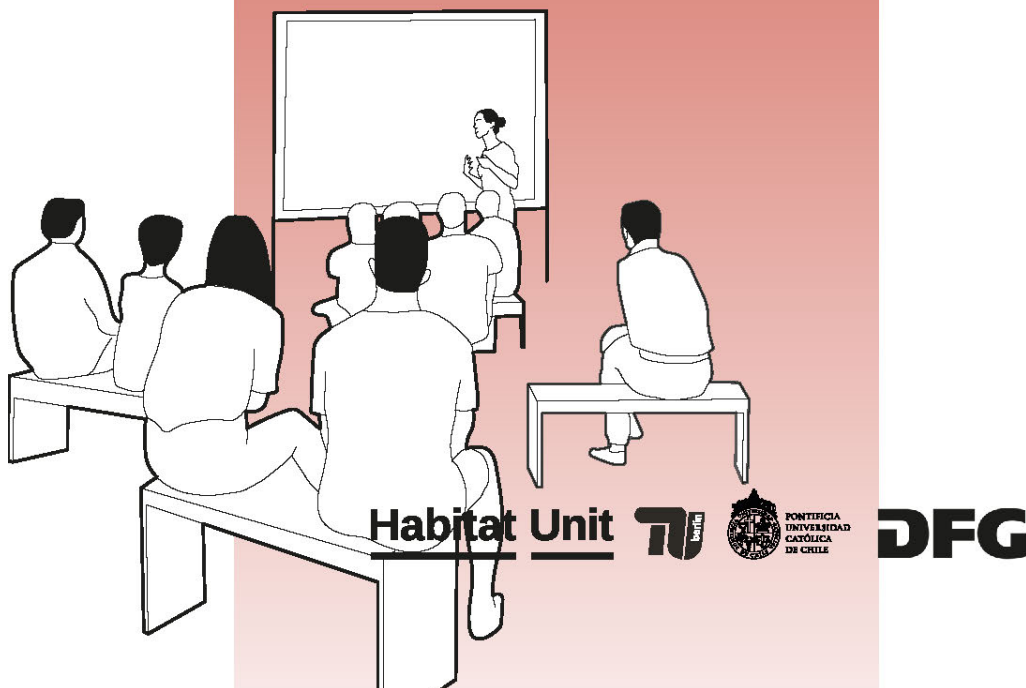

Within the framework of the DFG funded research project KOPRO Int. we have been investigating concepts of co-production and commons-based solutions for inclusive urban spaces in a comparative study between Berlin, Germany, and Santiago, Chile.

After nearly two and a half years of research, we would like to close this chapter with a concluding colloquium and create a transition to the project's second phase, which will focus on looking more closely at co-produced sustainability projects.
